To Whom It May Concern:

I own a Private Investigations company based in Toronto. I needed to look outside of the typical advertising options like Google AdWords and Yelp because competition in my industry is fierce.

I was searching online for options and came across Legal Line and reached out to them for advertising options. I was hesitant in the beginning as their original pricing was more than I wanted to spend. Ian was great with me so I started advertising with only 5 topics @ $50 each to test it out, and now I am so happy with all the new business leads I am getting that I have a link after all 27 Private Investigation topics.

I am very familiar with SEO and heavily involved with my SEO company in the decisions for my website. My SEO company was very impressed with the metrics of Legal Line and encouraged me to work with them. Because of Legal Line I have jumped up Google to the first page, and I used to be on pages 4-8.

If you are considering advertising with Legal Line I say that the exposure and SEO upside is well worth it.

Kind Regards,
